

THE WELLCOME TRUST CENTRE FOR THE HISTORY OF MEDICINE

REMEDIES AND RECIPES

COPYRIGHT ASSIGNMENT

The Project Remedies and Recipes intends to address issues of Asian migration and health care in the twentieth and twenty-first century. The entire proceedings of the project are recorded and transcribed with a view to publication to generate interest in, and provide material sources for, the study and interpretation of the living traditions of Asian medicine in the UK. As copyright in anything you said during the proceedings belongs to you (copyright in the recording of the proceedings belonging to the Wellcome Trust Centre at UCL), we would be grateful if you would complete this form to enable us to use your contribution in the manner and for the purposes outlined above.

1. NAME

2. ADDRESS

3. ASSIGNMENT

I confirm that I am the author and legal owner of my contribution to the proceedings of the Remedies and Recipes Project and of any comments I may have made on any draft transcript (“my Contribution”), and I assign to the Wellcome Trust Centre at UCL (“the Centre”) the copyright in my Contribution.

5. SOUND AND FILM RECORDING

I confirm that the entire copyright and all other rights in the sound recording made of my Contribution by the Trust at the Remedies and Recipes event (“the Recording”) and the transcript made of the Recording belong to the Centre for the full period of copyright including all renewals and extensions.

6. PUBLICATION

I acknowledge the right of the Centre as assignee of the copyright in my Contribution to publish my Contribution in whole or in part.

I acknowledge the right of the editor of any publication of my Contribution to edit my Contribution provided that my approval of any changes made by the editor will be obtained (such approval not to be unreasonably withheld).

7. USE OF MY CONTRIBUTION

I reserve the right to make use of my Contribution, having first obtained the permission of the Wellcome Trust Centre for the History of Medicine at UCL for me to do so (such permission not to be unreasonably withheld) and I confirm that in any such use I will acknowledge the Centre.
